VOSS group is an automotive supplier with a global presence. VOSS healthcare was established to broaden the group's range of offerings by venturing into the medical supply market.

The first product to enter our portfolio is ello, the electric walker. Electric walkers provide additional safety and increased accessibility, greatly improving the users' independence.

In 2018, a startup unsuccessfully introduced a first iteration of ello to the market. However, driven by our belief in the concept, we have partnered with the initial developers to enhance and refine ello, ensuring that the new version is not only more user-friendly but also more accessible in terms of affordability.

We plan to launch the new ello in 2024. Stay tuned.
