IOvis GmbH was founded in 1997 as an agency for communication and media, including classical print and a wide range of new media. Among other emphasis is placed on 3D computer graphics and animations which are key elements of more comprehensive marketing campaigns at our customers or directly used in sales activities. Our animations of structures and process dynamics provide more insight into technological innovations and even reveal interactions hidden to the eye. This is a true asset for marketing but also for education related purposes. In the area of medical technology our expertise spans from visualizing cell activity, surgical operations and various instruments.
