Sphairlab GmbH produces innovative cleanrooms made out of high-strength textile with an exceptional design.

A sphairlab can be certified as ISO or GMP regarding the needs of the client. The core idea of the sphairlab concept is to simplify construction and to minimize construction time to their maximum by using textile shell and inside overpressure to assure structural statics. But sphairlab is not only lightweight and easy to build in short time, it is also very good looking. It can be used temporary or stationary and it is very flexible regarding its shape.
